DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-11, 13-37, and 41, drawn to a transformed host cell comprising a chromosomal gene which inhibits cell growth and a plasmid encoding an antisense sequence.

Group II, claim(s) 12, and 46-71, drawn to a host cell comprising a chromosomal gene which inhibits cell growth.

Group III, claim(s) 38-40, drawn to methods of maintaining a plasmid in a host cell in vitro and isolating plasmid DNA or protein from the cell.

Group IV, claim(s) 44, 72, and 73 drawn to methods of delivering a gene to a patient and immunizing a patient comprising administering a transformed host cell to the patient.

Group V, claim(s) 45, drawn to a method of maintaining a plasmid in a recipient organism.

The inventions listed as Groups I-V do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the special technical feature, an anti-sense sequence to a gene that inhibits cell growth, does not make a contribution over the prior art as anti-sense RNA to p53 is disclosed in Shohat, et al. (1987, Oncogene, v.1:227-283).

Art Unit: 1635

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- A) prokaryotic or eukaryotic cell;
- B) gram negative or gram-positive bacteria;
- C) E. coli, Salmonella, or Bacillus;
- D) fungi, plant, or animal cell;
- E) the chromosomal genes encoding a toxin, a repressor protein, or an antisense sequence;
- F) lacI, dapD, or fabA.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Art Unit: 1635

- A) prokaryotic or eukaryotic cell, claims 14, 21, 47, and 54;
- B) gram negative or gram-positive bacteria, claims 16, 18, 49, and 51;
- C) E. coli, Salmonella, or Bacillus, claims 17, 19, 50, and 52;
- D) fungi, plant, or animal cell, claims 22-24 and 55-57;
- E) the chromosomal genes encoding a toxin, a repressor protein, or an antisense sequence, claims 25, 27, 31, 58, 60, and 64;
- F) lacI, dapD, or fabA, claims 29, 30, 35, 62, and 68.

The following claim(s) are generic: claims 1 and 12.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the species have mutually exclusive characteristics and are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
